Peschiera - Valeggio - Mantua and back

80 km / 300 meters altitude difference, which may vary depending on changes to the route

Category RED

Opportunities for rest and photo stops:

- A relaxing and peaceful ride along the Mincio River on a bike path with no traffic, first towards Valeggio. The only outflow of Lake Garda flows calmly and creates a soothing atmosphere.
- After Valeggio, the landscape becomes flatter and the river flows in gentle curves towards the south.
- Just before Mantua, the route follows a road towards the city, which is surrounded by three lakes and has a location almost like a painted picture.
- Take a break in Mantua and, if desired, take a short walk before returning to Peschiera along the same route.
- This is a relaxed tour for easy riding, conversation, and of course, some photo stops. Dinner in Peschiera or nearby.

A calm day with hardly any altitude difference begins with a soothing ride along the bike path towards the south. It is recommended to take this route during the week to avoid the weekend traffic on the bike path.

The river exudes calmness, and you can enjoy the ride along the banks of the Mincio River. After Valeggio, the route becomes flatter, and along the curves of the lake, it goes almost to Mantua and then follows the road to the center. Please be careful, as the road is paved with rough stones, and there is a risk of slipping with the bike. After a leisurely cappuccino and a short walk, if desired (which is not so pleasant due to cycling shoes), it's back along the same route. This tour is suitable for after a challenging tour from the previous day.
